SALT LAKE STOCKADE IS SCENE OF A BIG RAID

Salt Lake, June 28.—Forty-two women and four men were led through Salt Lake City's streets early Sunday morning to the county jail—the victims of the latest raid on the "stockade" by Sheriff Joseph Sharp's deputies.

The women were inmates of the "barber houses" and their proprietors. The men were caught in the houses where the raid was made.

As in the last previous raid upon the "stockade" by the sheriff's forces, bonds were fixed at $750 cash, each. Eight of the "landladies" obtained their release a few hours later by furnishing bail, but thirty-two of the other women and the four men remained in jail with little prospect of getting their freedom.

(Those who were arrested were: Florence Devine, Helen Hansen, Della Donaldson, Alice Graham, Filma River, Trixie Graymont, Louis Hamilton, Cleo Starr, Flossie Smith, Neva Russell, Maxine Brown, Ruth Johnson, Fred Yachey, Elsie Ross, Eleanor Ray, Mary Daniels, J. J. Brown, E. Franklin, Peachy Turloff, May Hamilton, Margie Brown, Margaret Smith, Ruby Vaughn, Tillie Johnson, Alie Blair, Ada Patterson, Daisy Kingston, Genevieve Adams, Blanche McComb, Trixie Brown, Edna Moore, Belle Clark, Irene McDonald, Vivian Wilson, Blanche Densmore, Clara Demont, Carrie Brown, James Stewart, Miss C. Jones, Olga Myers, Margaret Cripp, Josephine Daddelon and Mike Sangany. Two other women were arrested on "Jane Doe" warrants.

The descent of the deputies may be made the basis of a bitter legal battle, for it is contended that they had no right to force doors or windows to make the arrests. Still, lawyers are divided upon this point. Some say that an officer of the law is justified in using any reasonable means to make an arrest upon a warrant. Others hold that when entrance is refused to a private residence the officer must take his chances in making the arrest on the outside.

This phase of the question raises the point as to whether an immoral house is a private residence. Mrs. Dora Topham, head of the Citizens' Investment company, has announced that she proposes to take this point to the highest courts of the land. She has ordered to all the inmates of the "barber houses" and the girls to admit no deputy. In event that entrance was gained by force, she promised to make it an issue.

WANT ADS BRING BIG RESULTS

THEY FOUGHT ON RUNNING TRAIN

ENGINEER AND CONDUCTOR IN A FIERCE BATTLE.

Conductor Was Severely Battered, But Engineer Claims to Have Used Only His Fists.

Considerable comment was aroused Sunday through the reports that were published regarding a fight which occurred Saturday night on a moving train of the Bamberger line between Engineer William Delano and Conductor George W. Driver, the train being that which reached Ogden at 9:30. Friends of Delano assert that an injustice was done him through the reports which stated that Delano had set upon the conductor with a fish-plate, fracturing the latter's jaw and nose and nearly destroying the sight of the left eye.

According to the early reports of the trouble, Conductor Driver objected to the speed at which Delano was allowing his train to proceed and when the former remonstrated with him regarding the matter, Delano had suddenly attacked him with the weapon and had seriously injured him.

Delano was arrested by the local police and held for the sheriff of Davis county, the fight having occurred in that county.

According to Delano, who was seen at the police station this morning, the fight was largely the result of the overbearing demeanor of Conductor Driver, and instead of his having used a fish-plate, which is a steel bar, a foot and half in length used for joining the ends of steel rails, his gloved fists were the only weapons used.

"The papers didn't give me a square deal," said Delano, today, "probably because I am a stranger and the fact that the information was obtained from friends of Driver. I didn't hit the man with any fish-plate; if I had his head would show some signs of it. I ordered him out of my engine while the train was in motion and when he struck at me, I proceeded to give him a good thrashing with my fists which were covered with common cotton gloves."

"Driver kicked about the speed we were making between Layton and Kaysville and I told him that one of the cylinders of the air pump was out of commission and that it would be necessary to set some of the hand brakes. He felted to have this done after leaving Kaysville and in a few minutes climbed over the tank into the cab and began abusing me for not slowing up with the engine. I was afraid to turn my back to him while running the engine and ordered him back to the train. He then struck at me with his fist and I tore into him for about two minutes and gave him what was coming. There was no fish-plate used and he wasn't so badly injured as he claimed as he had no difficulty in clambering back over the tank to the train beyond after I let up on him."

Delano was taken back to Davis county, pending the filing of charges against him.

JURORS BELIEVE JEALOUS WOMAN DID THE KILLING

last Tuesday was known to the police. This note was given in theory that the murder was committed by Eastman, and that he planned to have Mrs. Woodill elope with him.

It is said today that a witness will testify that Eastman told him he had known Mrs. Woodill for some time prior to her marriage to the Los Angeles automobile dealer, and that he had visited her at her home in California.

The Eastman bungalow, which is seven miles from here, was stripped of its furniture late Saturday by the sheriff, on an attachment for debt sworn out by a firm of Easton merchants to whom Eastman was indebted for a pump. The sheriff's action, in disturbing the interior of the cabin, was advanced today, when a further search of the shack which the superstitious folks of the neighborhood forever more will shun as haunted, revealed a small bottle which contained a mixture of narcotic drugs. This tends to bear out the theory which the people of the community who knew and loved the girl long have wanted to believe. They never have listened to the suggestion that she was involved in a drunken orgy at the bungalow and have contended that she lost her life in repulsing

St. Michaels, Md., June 27.—The theory that Edith May Woodruff was lured to Lane Bob Eastman's bungalow without knowledge where she was going, and that she was drugged, was advanced today, when a further search of the shack which the superstitious folks of the neighborhood forever more will shun as haunted, revealed a small bottle which contained a mixture of narcotic drugs. This tends to bear out the theory which the people of the community who knew and loved the girl long have wanted to believe. They never have listened to the suggestion that she was involved in a drunken orgy at the bungalow and have contended that she lost her life in repulsing

Mrs. Eastman will apply today for letters of administration, so that she may take legal possession of her husband's farm. She is not expected to come to St. Michaels, but will probably ask for the papers at Easton.

There still exists a strong belief among several members of the coroner's jury that others than Eastman and Mrs. Woodruff were in the bungalow at the time of the murder.

It was even hinted tonight that one or more arrests may be made at any time. It was further intimated that the arrest may not be at St. Michaels or at Baltimore.

Mrs. Eastman, wife of the accused murderer, has not changed her opinion since coming to Easton that her husband did not kill Mrs. Woodruff. She declared today that Eastman had told her he was a fugitive from justice, and that he would rather commit suicide than serve twenty years in the penitentiary on the charge of grand larceny. Mrs. Eastman said she will return to the stage to earn a living for herself and little boy.

HEALTH OF THE CITY REMAINS ABOUT SAME

Salt Lake, June 27.—There was just one more case of contagious and infectious diseases reported for the week ending Saturday than for the previous week, the report of the city board of health, submitted Saturday, showing: Thirty-eight cases were reported for the week ending Saturday, as against thirty-seven cases for the previous seven days.

Scarlet fever remained the same, 10 cases, while smallpox fell off 2 cases, there being 4 cases for the week just ended, as compared to 6 cases for the previous week. Whooping cough showed a big decrease, going from 8 cases for the week ending June 19, to 13 cases for the week just ended. The rest of the 35 cases were distributed as follows:

Diphtheria, 3; typhoid fever, 1; measles, 1.

Two new cases of smallpox were reported Saturday as follows: C. R. Havens, 24 years old, American house, J. J. Vaughn, 30, Holy Cross hospital. Havens is from Santa Ana, Cal.

This leaves ten houses under quarantine on account of smallpox and four cases of the contagion at the isolation hospital. Five houses are under quarantine on account of diphtheria, and thirty-seven on account of scarlet fever.

There were forty-one births and only twenty-two deaths for the week. The report shows: Of the births twenty-four were boys and seventeen girls. Of the deaths fourteen were males and eight females. Three bodies were brought here for burial.

ACTING GOVERNOR TO CONFER WITH SUGAR PLANTERS

Manila, June 27.—Acting Governor general Forbes has gone to Zamboanga, on Misraona island, to attend the conference of American planters and commercial representatives of the islands who will assemble there July 4, to discuss the needs of the country.

Gov. Forbes plans to make a personal study of conditions on the island during his term.

the advances of the man who acknowledged his guilt by killing himself when near capture.

Today's investigations led the authorities still further away from the idea that any other than Eastman could have invited friends from New York or from any other place to visit his bungalow in the condition it was in. The place, only half completed, offered no accommodations for visitors whatsoever. A single bed, poorly fitted up, a table and a wash stand completed its equipment of furniture. Eastman himself slept in the place frequently.

In a grave not fifty feet from the scene of the crime which led him to his death, Eastman's body was laid away. The undertakers and their assistants, a little band of newspaper men and a few idle persons, morbidly attracted to follow the strange funeral procession, were the only ones at the grave.

Mrs. Eastman, stopping twelve miles away at Easton, expressed no desire to attend the funeral. No church or churchyard of the vicinity would open its doors or gates to the dead man. Superstitious negroes who could not be induced to dig the grave, stood awe-stricken on the outskirts of the funeral party.

When the hearse had drawn up alongside the grave, four men lifted the casket from the vehicle and placed it temporarily on two planks stretched across the grave into which a pine box had already been lowered.

There was an awkward pause. One of the undertakers said: "Gentlemen, it seems to me that some one should say a little word of prayer. Won't one of you?"

His glance fell upon James Sutton, a merchant of Bozeman.

"You are a church member, Mr. Sutton," said the undertaker, "won't you say it?"

Sutton hesitated for a moment, then asking all to join with him, began to repeat the Lord's Prayer with solemn earnestness.

When the last words of the prayer were uttered, Sutton stepped forward and, filling his hands with newly turned soil from beside the grave, thrice tossed the sandy loam upon the casket as he said:

"Earth to earth, ashes to ashes, dust to dust."

The search of Eastman's cabin revealed further evidence of the fact that the murder was committed there. At the place where the head of the bed had rested, a part of the flooring had been ripped up and new planks laid loosely down. Beneath these planks the floor beam had been newly scraped with a chisel or some other sharp instrument. But the efforts to remove all blood stains had failed. The ground below had also absorbed a quantity of the girl's blood.

Particular search was made for any possible fragments of a champagne bottle which might tend to bear out Eastman's claim that Mrs. Woodruff was murdered by another woman. Two whisky and three wine glasses were discovered, but there were no evidences of champagne bottles ever having been in or around the shack.

It is becoming apparent that Eastman was a prolific letter-writer. It is said that whenever he left St. Michaels to go to Baltimore or Washington, he always mailed letters back here addressed to himself as Roberts.

It is claimed he also wrote to Postmaster Taylor the letter signed "E. B. Wellington," telling the postmaster what a fine fellow Roberts was and how much he (Wellington), an uncle living in Denver, was interested in him. The writer asked that Roberts be liberally treated.

Attorney A. S. Rosenthal, of New York, who is here as a former lawyer for Eastman and as the representative of persons who lost heavily as sureties on Eastman's bond when he fled from New York, declared today that he would endeavor to have the condemnments discharged on proof of Eastman's death and thus relieve the sureties.

The local police have tried to communicate with District Attorney Jerome as to the status of the New York reward offered for Eastman.

There still exists a strong belief among several members of the coroner's jury that others than Eastman and Mrs. Woodruff were in the bungalow at the time of the murder.

It was even hinted tonight that one or more arrests may be made at any time. It was further intimated that the arrest may not be at St. Michaels or at Baltimore.

TEMPERATE CATHOLICS AGAINST LIQUOR TRAFFIC

Chicago, June 28.—Warfare has been declared by Roman Catholic temperance advocates against the liquor traffic. A call to every member of the Catholic church in Illinois, to join in the fight for a "dry state," denunciation of Catholic Societies, which tolerate the sale of intoxicants at picnics and Saturday night dances held by them, and an appeal for a rigid enforcement of the Sunday closing law, are contained in resolutions adopted yesterday by the Catholic total abstinence association of Illinois.

Backed by Archbishop Quigley, the movement has enlisted many Catholic ministers, and plans are on foot to establish in each parish, from Chicago to Cairo, organizations to battle against the liquor industry.

Preceding the national convention of the organization to be held here August 4, 5 and 6, Catholics of Chicago will hold a monster parade through the downtown streets, in which it is expected 10,000 total abstinence supporters will participate.

J. J. SHEPARD IS ARRESTED IN RED BLUFF, CAL.

Considered a Blackmailer and Crook While in This City—He Is Jailed for Same Offense on Coast.

J. J. Shepard, known in Ogden as a gambler, blackmailer and all-around crook, is again in the toils, this time at Red Bluff, California, where he is being held by the district attorney on charges of blackmail and extortion.

Shepard is an ex-convict, having served a term in the Iowa penitentiary before coming to Ogden. He arrived in this city in 1903 and soon attracted the attention of the police through a crooked poker game which he was conducting on the ground floor of one of the local saloons.

The mayor effected the arrest of Shepard and the latter proceeded to institute a strenuous defense on the grounds that in conducting a game on the ground floor he was no more guilty than those who were allowed to conduct gambling places above the first floor as is still permitted.

It was shown that Shepard's game in the rear of a saloon was much more enticing to the unsophisticated stranger than were the recognized resorts on the second floor and he was prohibited from continuing. The fellow then began the publication of a newspaper, "The News," and also started legal proceedings to oust the mayor from office. The case, however, was dismissed and the mayor retaliated by bringing charges of criminal libel.

The police ascertained that Shepard was considered an all-around crook, had served a ten-year sentence in the state penitentiary for extortion. The charge against him here in Ogden were subsequently dismissed on condition that he leave the city and never return.

The local department received a telegraphic inquiry Sunday from District Attorney W. A. Fish of Red Bluff asking for the record of Shepard and stating that he was being held at that point on charges of blackmail. The department complied with the request at once and are awaiting news of the fellow's trial.

W. H. CHEEVERS RETURNS FROM SOUTHERN IDAHO

Joint Freight Agent W. H. Cheevers of the Harriman system is back at his desk again after three weeks' absence in Idaho. He is wearing a heavy coat of tan and shows evidence of rustic health as a result of his vacation. Referring to conditions in Idaho, Mr. Cheevers said:

"Land hunters and homeseekers are swarming all over the Gem state and the famous Gentile valley is receiving its fair proportion of new people. Crops through the valley, where irrigation exists, are in splendid condition and enormous yields are expected. A good deal of dry farming is apparent in the foothills and the crops in those districts are also looking well."

"They have had considerable rain there this season and melting snows have made a rushing torrent out of Bear river."

"Everybody is prosperous and the entire valley looks superb at this time."

"I enjoyed the trip very much. My boy will remain at the ranch of Barnard White during the warm season."

"I am sorry I cannot accommodate all my friends with bear meat and trout, but the supply was limited and Fred Gentsch and Dr. Joyce gobbled up all I brought down on the trip."

TWO TRAINS FOR OLD FOLKS

OUTSIDERS WILL NOT BE ALLOWED ON EXCURSION.

Except Those Who Are in Attendance Upon Old Folks, and They Too Must Have Badges.

The Old Folks excursion to Salt Lake Tuesday is the result of countless extended pioneers of Utah by General Manager Bancroft and the passenger department of the Oregon Short Line system and local officials of that road want it distinctly understood that no one except old people—those who have reached the three score and ten mark—are eligible for the trip. Where the old people require special attention and care, an attendant will be allowed to accompany them, but in no circumstances will excursionists be allowed on the train unless they are provided with the proper badge from the bishop of the ward or district in which they reside.

Accommodations have been arranged for nine hundred people and these will include pioneers between Brigham City and Ogden and between Ogden and Salt Lake.

The excursion train will run in two sections, the first picking up pioneers from Brigham City to Ogden and then running through from this city to Salt Lake without stopping the trip. A record train to leave Ogden at 8:45 a. m. and picking up eligible excursionists at all points between Ogden and Salt Lake.

Returning Tuesday night, both trains will stop at all points between the capital city and Ogden and Brigham City. In order to make it more convenient for the aged pioneers to reach home on either train.
